Introduction

Many people love animals (pets) but there are people in the community who don't, and some people are actually frightened of them.

The purpose of this leaflet is to let both pet owners and non-pet owners know what Sandbourne's expectations are. This applies to all our occupiers whether you are a tenant, leaseholder or a shared owner.

When we talk about 'residents' in this leaflet, it relates to tenants, leaseholders or shared owners.

This leaflet should be read in conjunction with, where applicable, your tenancy agreement. If you are a leaseholder or shared ownership occupier, you should also read your lease.

Are there benefits to having, or looking after, a pet?

Owning or looking after a pet, and in particular a cat or dog, has been proven to be beneficial in many ways for the owner, for example providing companionship and helping to alleviate social isolation, improve health and reduce stress, etc. In addition, some people require the support of animals, for example assistance dogs, in their day-to-day lives.

Sandbourne therefore wishes to enable the opportunity for residents to have these benefits, where reasonably possible, but always with our permission.

What should I consider before getting a pet?

Although we've outlined some of the benefits, we would ask you to think carefully about getting a pet and consider:

- Can you afford to have a pet?

If you have a low income you will need to make sure that you can afford it, in addition to your existing obligations such as paying your rent. You will need to consider the purchase price of the pet; food (dogs, in particular, can be very expensive to feed); vets bills (for spaying/neutering, vaccinations, general health issues, flea treatments and worming, plus any unfortunate accidents); insurance against injury or damage (not only to your pet or to you, but also third parties). We should mention that damage to a property and/or communal areas, by your pet, could result in you being recharged for any repairs. There are even now dog ASBOs to contend with.

In 2023 the PDSA quoted the lifetime cost of a dog as at least between £5,000 to £13,000, a cat as £11,000 and even a rabbit as up to £9,000.

- Are you at home to look after your pet?

Some organisations insist that you need to be at home for a large part of the day to look after certain types of pets, for example a dog. If this is the case, are you able to do this or is there someone else who can and will look after your pet responsibly while you're away or ill, etc.

- Will your pet need exercising?

If yes, are you fit and able to do this and is there somewhere close by that you can take your pet to exercise and toilet them responsibly, particularly at night when it may be dark, and you may be on your own.

Is permission needed to keep or look after a pet?

Yes, residents must write into Sandbourne to request permission to keep a pet(s), including assistance dogs or looking after a pet for someone else. Please consider the appropriateness of the size and breed when choosing your pet. Sandbourne will consider requests based on the individual circumstances of the resident concerned and will confirm our decision in writing within 28 days of the written request.

To assist you, if you are thinking about having a pet of your own or looking after one for someone else, we have included a request form at the end of this leaflet.

What about new residents who already have pets?

We automatically ask any potential residents about any pets they may have and will make them aware of their responsibilities before granting permission for them to move their pets into their new home with them.

What are my responsibilities?

Whether you currently own a pet, including assistance dogs, are thinking of getting a pet, are looking after a pet, or know of a resident with a pet, here are some guidelines to ensure that everyone is clear about a pet owner's/pet keeper's responsibility.

Sandbourne occupancy agreements outline that residents are responsible for all companions staying in, and/or visiting, their home or in the locality of their home, both animal and humans! To be clear on what we expect from residents, we require that:

1. Pets should not be allowed to:

- enter any of the communal lounges, kitchens, laundries or guest rooms.

- roam free in any Sandbourne communal areas/grounds or in the neighbouring area (in the case of dogs)
- use the grounds where they live for exercise or as a toilet; this must be carried out away from Sandbourne premises.
- be noisy and/or disturbing to neighbours, for unreasonable periods of time and/or frequency, especially at nighttime.
- jump up or approach neighbours, visitors, staff or contractors, without invitation (for example, dogs).
- Under no circumstances should owners use the communal laundries or washing machines to clean pet bedding, towels, or blankets.

2. Pets should

- be insured, healthy and be up to date with vaccinations.
- be microchipped, as required by law for dogs, and their details kept up to date.
- in the case of dogs, be kept on a lead once outside of your home.
- never be left unattended for unreasonable periods of time.
- be cared for by someone, or an organisation, in the event of an emergency (for example if you are hospitalised at short notice).
- always be under the owner's/keeper's control in Sandbourne communal areas and in your own home.
- be cared for and all litter should be disposed of responsibly.

- be moved to another room during a visit from a member of Sandbourne's staff, or one of its contractors, if they request this.

What if a complaint is made about a pet and their behaviour, or the owner?

Sandbourne will take any complaints about pets, or the actions of their owner, very seriously. Any complaint will be investigated, and information/evidence gathered. If the complaint is then deemed valid, consent to keep the pet may be withdrawn and you may have to re-home it/them. However, simply disagreeing that someone has a pet is not sufficient cause in itself for a complaint to be considered.
